- The Minnesota Ground Water Association is unlike any other professional society in Minnesota. The Association focuses not on one profession, but on one resource - groundwater.
- The Minnesota Ground Water Association was organized in 1982 to promote and encourage the science of groundwater hydrology and to educate all on Minnesota's groundwater resources.
- Minnesota faces a variety of groundwater contamination and water supply problems. Solutions to those problems cannot be provided by any one profession.
- MGWA members are hydrogeologists, hydrologists, geologists, engineers, chemists, agronomists, drillers, lawyers, educators and legislators. MGWA members represent government agencies at all levels, industry, the educational community and citizen action groups.
- The Minnesota Ground Water Association invites and challenges its members to work together as a group, to share their experience and knowledge, and be willing to teach and learn.
